A: This is normal, when you fetch data from database it is highly possible that the database also has some data columns which don't satisfy your fetch query, so the default behaviour is to skip that row and move on to the next one. The solution is that you fetch and process only the data which your query returns So while fetching from your database write the following changes. SELECT 'blue' as color,3 as size,6 as shape FROM table WHERE.... Q: Can't get app to run on localhost I've installed sass and webpack on localhost using npm (WAMP server and npm run serve), but I get the following error: Can't find module './index.js' in 'D:\MyProject\src'. I got app.js from an online tutorial and changed the source to my project directory. My settings in webpack.config.js is as follows: var path = require('path'); var webpack = require('webpack'); var htmlWebpackPlugin = require('html-webpack-plugin'); var HtmlWebpackPlugin = require("html-webpack-plugin"); var ExtractTextPlugin = require("extract-text-webpack-plugin"); module.exports = { entry: { app: ['./app.js'] }, output: { path: __dirname + '/public', filename: 'bundle.js', },
